The Adams County Draft Board today resumed full time operations with members of the board urging all who have not yet registered and who are between the ages of 18 and 25 to do so at once.

The board also called for all registrants who have had changes occur in their status since they registered to notify the board at once. The changes listed include marriages, birth, securing different occupations and changes in address.

At present, 582 Adams county men are in 1-A classification and subject for immediate call, if a quota is given the draft board, the members noted.

The 1-A classification is for single men in non-agricultural occupations. Farmers are given a 2-C classification. Married men are not carried in the 1-A group.

3270 Are Registered

Three thousand two hundred and seventy men are registered with the board and of that number 2934 are classified. At present 18-year-olds are not classified until they reach their 18th birthday.

The current registration began August 30, 1948, and for some time the board has operated only part-time. Today however it resumed its full-time five days a week schedule.

Miss Margaret McIlhenny, clerk for the board, will be in the office from 8:30 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock each afternoon Monday through Friday each week. The office is located on the second floor of the Kadel building, and is the first office at the head of the stairs from the entrance off Lincoln Square beside the Plaza restaurant.

Miss McIlhenny began her duties with the draft board in 1943. In 1947, the board closed following World War II, and then was reopened in August 1948 with Miss McIlhenny returning as clerk.

A farmer, educator, choir director and director of plays and operettas during the past few years, he was also a teacher of a veterans' agriculture class.

He was primarily responsible for the establishment of the Arendtsville Vocational school and established there an organization similar to the Future Farmers of America long before the FFA was established.

Born in Arendtsville, he was a son of the late Clayton and Emma Wolf Rice. He attended the Arendtsville public school and Gettysburg academy and then went to Penn State college where he finished a four-year agricultural course in three years by taking extra courses during the final year.

In 1915 when Arendtsville was considering enlarging its high school, Mr. Rice, then a student at State college, appeared before the school board and before the Parent-Teachers' association to outline the advantages of establishing a vocational school and told how such a school could be set up. As a result of his efforts, the plan was adopted and the school established.

After graduation from Penn State, Mr. Rice taught at Conneautville for three years. He then was county agent in Franklin county for three years before accepting a post as teacher of agriculture at the Arendtsville Vocational school, a position he held for 16 years.

Popular With Class

In February, 1938, he accepted a post as a teacher of agriculture at Jersey Shore and taught there for three years before returning to his farm near Arendtsville. For two years he was a field man for the Knouse Foods company at Peach Glen and then, three years ago, accepted a post as a teacher of a veterans' agriculture class.

Tokyo, Tuesday, July 11 (AP)— Northern Communist troops battled to within 20 air miles of Taejon. South Korea's temporary capital, early today after a "lost" U. S. battalion had fought its way out of a trap and the first American victims of Red atrocity were found.

Bound and shot in the face, the bodies of seven American soldiers were found in a see-saw battle area yesterday. They were not members of the "lost" battalion, which has rejoined its regiment and is ready for action.

They were found by Lt. D. C. Gates of Texas, who identified four of them as his ammunition carriers. They were seen trapped and surrendering to two Red tanks a short time earlier.

New North Advances

General MacArthur in his 12:02 a.m. (9:02 a.m. EST Monday) communique told of the new North Korean advances. He said the stride was made by the North Korean First division, which had hemmed in the unidentified "lost" battalion for two days before it slugged its way free.

MacArthur's communique said another force, probably the Third North Korean division, was in contact with United States forces at Chochiwon, 15 miles southeast of Chonan.

At Chinchon, the Second North Korean division engaged elements of a South Korean corps on a front just south of the city, the communique reported.

MacArthur said enemy pressure gained some ground in the Umsong-Chungju area, some 70 miles northeast of Chonan. Units of the 15th North Korean division there forced back southern republican troops to high ground northwest of Umsong, he said.

U. S. Warplanes Hit Hard

Just south of Chungju, major city in the Umsong fighting area, an enemy battalion with other forces opposed South Korean troops, MacArthur's communique said.

The United Nations commander said increased activities on the east coast still indicated southward pressure with opposition from friendly forces (likely allied naval and air).

MacArthur said there was evidence the morale of the North Korean Communists was slipping under the heavy pressure applied by allied warplanes which yesterday began around the clock attacks on them.

Some 46 enemy tanks, trapped on a highway near Chonan, were knocked out by the low flying planes yesterday, front line dispatches said.

Firebomb Works Well

MacArthur said light bombers from the Fifth Air Force performed close support and bombed troops, vehicles, tanks and trucks with reported good results. Fighters, he said, reported many tanks, trucks, railroad rolling stock and vehicles destroyed.

Napalm, the firebomb, was used with reported excellent results, the general's communique said. Napalm is a secret soap-like mixture that splatters flaming gasoline when the bomb bursts.

The advance of the North Korean troops on the populous western side of the Korean peninsula carried them to within 20 air miles of Taejon. MacArthur said the Reds were at Chochiwon, a rail junction Taejon is the temporary capital of the South Korean government.

Other Good News

But even as these reverses were reported, Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer said in a Tokyo interview that combined air, sea and ground forces of the allies had stopped the Communist drive that had rolled relentlessly for two weeks.

There was other heartening news today. Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer said the "great effort of our ground forces, the navy and Far East Air Forces (FEAF)" has stopped the Communist drive that for two weeks ground relentlessly deep into South Korea.

Allied warplanes, in their first round-the-clock attacks rained bombs Sunday on North Korean forces, shattering 46 tanks and troop convoys.

Stratemeyer, FEAF commander, said in an interview allied warplanes knocked out 123 North Korean tanks and destroyed or damaged 640 other ground transport vehicles in the first 15 days of fighting.

PITCHING PUTS BOSTON BRAVES IN THIRD PLACE

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The word "pennant" is back in the vocabulary of the good folks up Boston way today. They're not referring to the Red Sox. But to Billy Southworth's Braves.

Billy the Kid's third place Warriors are only two games out of first place. They have won 17 of their last 25 games, for a roaring .680 clip. Less than a month ago—June 14th to be exact—the Braves trailed the pack by six and one half games.

Pitching has put the Braves where they are. In the beginning Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain carried the load. Then Vern Bickford got into the picture, and recently Bob Chipman began to clock to give Southworth his long desired "Big Four."

Two Games Off Pace
The Braves inched to within two games of the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils yesterday as Bickford turned in a brilliant 3-2, 13-inning victory over the New York Giants. Bickford limited the Giants to eight hits and only three walks and won out on some daring base running by Sam Jethroe.

Jethroe opened the last of the 13th against Sal Maglie with a double and stole third, his third steal of the game and 24th of the season. One out later Maglie intentionally walked Earl Torgerson. Sid Gordon followed with a grounder to Maglie who bluffed Jethroe back to third and then attempted an inning ending double play.

Maglie's throw to Ed Stanky was slow and Jethroe, who injured his left instep in his steal of third, limped across the plate with the winning run as Gordon beat Stanky's relay to first.

Phils Lose
The Phils were trounced, 7-3, by the Brooklyn Dodgers but maintained their one game edge over St. Louis. The Cards dropped a 3-2 decision to the tail-end Pittsburgh Pirates. Erv Palica, making his first start since July of 1948, tamed the Phils on five hits.

Pittsburgh gained its third straight victory over the Cardinals by scoring twice in the seventh inning to wipe out a 2-1 deficit.

The pennant race in the American league tightened up as the Cleveland Indians knocked off the league-leading Detroit Tigers twice, 6-2 and 5-2 before 54,299 fans in Detroit. The defeats cut the Tiger's margin over the runner-up New York Yankees to three games. The Yanks tripped the Boston Red Sox, 3-1.

As Tied In Cellar
Bob Lemon outpitched his teammate Art Houtenham to post his 12th victory in the opener. The Tigers assumed a 2-0 lead against Mike Garcia in the first four innings of the nightcap but the Indians jumped on Rookie Saul Rogovin for three runs in the sixth.

Lefty Eddie Lopat scattered nine Red Sox hits to post his 10th victory before 53,097 fans in the Yankee stadium. Lopat blanked the Sox until the eighth when successive singles by Birdie Tebbets, Billy Goodman and Dom DiMaggio produced the lone Boston run.

St. Louis tied the Philadelphia Athletics for seventh place by beating the Chicago White Sox, 4-2, while the A's split a twin bill with the Washington Senators. The A's won the opener 6-5, but lost the nightcap, 2-0.

Sherm Lollar starred for the Browns driving out a homer and double, batting in a run and scoring three.

Billy Hitchcock and Sam Chapman teamed up to bring the A's victory before a slim turnout of 4,131 at Shibe park. Hitchcock drove across three runs on three singles and Chapman knocked home two on an inside the park homer. Lefty Bob Kuzava blanked the A's on four singles in the wind-up.

The Cincinnati Reds took two from the Chicago Cubs, 6-0 and 6-5. Ken Raffensperger shut out the Cubs on six hits in the opener.

Next Sunday's Game
All-Star tilt on Recreation Field for benefit injured players.

Gettysburg and Hunterstown fought one of the closest played games of the week-end Sunday at Hunterstown, with the visitors winning 2 to 1 in a game that was marred by but two errors and during which 11 hits were granted by the opposing pitchers.

Two runs in the first inning gave Gettysburg its victory, which moved it into a tie with Hunterstown for third place in the loop standings. Kitzmiller held Hunterstown to three hits, with the losers pushing through their lone tally in the eighth.

Greenmount at the same time blasted out a 17 to 4 victory over Barlow on the winner's field. Two pitchers granted 17 hits to the league-leading Greenmount squad. Barlow led off with two runs in the first inning, while Greenmount remained scoreless, but in the second inning the homesters belted across five runs to sew up the game.

Granite defeated Brushtown 14 to 11 over Bonneauville in another league battle.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

4th of July Celebration: The 74th anniversary of American Independence was appropriately celebrated by a number of the citizens of Gettysburg and vicinity, at Spangler's Spring, ("Paradise Grove"). After partaking of an excellent dinner prepared by Mr.
Nicholas Weaver, the company organized by appointing Dr. C. N.
Berluchy, President; Andrew Polley, George Shroyok, Anthony Dearthoff, Wm. Wisotzky, James Bowen and Eli H. Bentley, Vice Presidents; and Henry J. Stahle, John Scott, Abraham Arnold and David Kendlehart, Secretaries. . . .

The company returned to town at about 5 o'clock, in procession, accompanied by "Gettys Lodge Band." (Wm. Wisotzky, Marshal) all well pleased with the patriotic manner in which this anniversary of our natal day was celebrated.

Death of the President of the United States: It is with the most painful feelings of sorrow and regret that we are compelled to announce the death of General Zachary Taylor, the beloved President of the United States. He breathed his last at the Presidential Mansion on Tuesday night, surrounded by his family and friends. The nation is thus called upon to mourn the loss of one of her most distinguished sons. General Taylor was born in Orange county, Va., in the year 1774, and at the time of his death was in his 66th year—forty years of which he passed in the service of his country.

The President was first attacked with cholera morbus on the night of the 3d. He, however, attended the ceremonies at the Washington Monument on the 4th of July. On Friday he was quite unwell, and his physician, Dr. Witherspoon, was in attendance. The last coherent words he uttered were—"I die—I am expecting the summons—I am ready to meet death—I have endeavored to discharge my duty—I am sorry to leave my friends!"

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The Fourth: In consequence of the fourth of July occurring this year on Sunday, Monday was celebrated throughout the country as the 99th anniversary of the declaration of independence.

In Gettysburg there was no formal celebration, but business was suspended, stores closed, and pic-nic parties were the order of the day.
The town was quiet, excepting the incessant explosion of crackers by "Young America," who kept up the frolic from morning to night. The day was unusually warm, the thermometer registering 96 degrees in the shade. We noticed more drunkenness than usual.

The promised military "re-union" was a fizzle and didn't amount to much, being made up of a dozen or two representatives of the several regiments. The few that did come had a banquet at the Springs Hotel on Saturday night with speeches and toasts.

Of the prominent military men announced to be present, Gen.
Hooker alone put in an appearance.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON HANDLING FRIENDS

One reason why some people have so few friends is that they have not learned the art of handling them! A writer recently ran a series of articles about Westbrook Pegler.
He could hardly say a good word for him. One nice thing he did say, and that was that he treated his wife as though she were a costly piece of china, meaning that he gave her every kindly consideration. With me that would be quite enough to establish such a one as my friend!

You can't get very close to a friend by saying mean things about him.
You can overlook so much if he is kindly and considerate. Look for the fine things in a friend, overlook the others and you will have him for a long time.

The tastes, habits, thinking and background of another are different and varied in every human being.
There is no greater art than that of friendship, but people take too little time in which to perfect it.
It is an investment, however, that one can carry throughout life, and receive continual dividends from—daily, and not merely quarterly or annually.

We should handle others as we would like them to handle us—in others words, set up the Golden Rule as a guide. You can't lose by it.
Play up, honestly, to your friend. It won't hurt you, and it will give him a lift. Even a deserved moment of flattery won't harm him, and may please him. We all like to have pleasant and deserved things said about us—in our presence. Even a race horse runs better after a pat on the nose!

There is one outstanding thing that contributes more than almost anything else to the handling and holding of a friend, and that is sincerity. Be genuine in your praise of that friend, and you will be worthy of every returning appreciation. Be ready to sacrifice your time or strength, or kind offices, that you may be of some help to your friend, when most in need.

We all can lose in material things, yet remain rich and happy, if we have but a few selected friends to whom we can tie, trust, and turn.
Handle them well in prosperity and they will not desert you if misfortune walks your way.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Baseball Umpire."

To give instruction what to say, And better, when keep still.
I know with good intentions all The visitors are moved to call,
But after visits many a nurse Has found her patient's fever worse.

When something vicious laid me low,
A friendly chap dropped in.
He wished my cause of pain to know.

I told him with a grin,
"That's bad!" said he, and twirled his hat.
"I had an old aunt die from that!"
And not until he disappeared Was I aware that I'd been cheered.

One caller told me (and I'm glad I can't recall his name):
His father once my illness had
And never was the same.

His doctor went from place to

To lecture on his father's case,

Which didn't greatly comfort me.

Now I can laugh that off, but Another Fatal Accident: We have already noticed the fact that Miss Mary Guiden, of Mountpleasant township, sustained fatal injuries by falling from a cherry tree. On Thursday (July 8), Mr. Guiden, her father, who had not been well, went to the field where the harvest hands were at work, having an umbrella hoisted over him to protect him from the heat of the sun. The horses seeing the umbrella, took fright and started to run. Mr. Guiden who was unable to get out of the way, was caught by the knives of the reaper, cutting and mangle his foot so as to cause his death on Saturday. He was 62 years of age.

Our farmers have been busy cutting and storing wheat during the county we have favorable reports, both as to quality and quantity.

FARM AND GARDEN NEWS SECTION

Gay Garden Pinks are Lovely and Easy to Grow

Dianthus Heddegiel flowers have brilliant color patterns

One of the flowers which deserves to be more popular than it is, is the dianthus. It belongs to an old family, with many branches, all lovely, hardy and easy to grow.

There are biennials, perennials and annuals among them, none of which is exacting in culture. Carnations can be grown in the home garden, as beautiful as the greenhouse types. A strain of annual Chinese pinks, known as Dianthus Heddegiel, is especially recommended for garden borders, because of its uniform bush habit of growth, and brightly colored flowers which develop at the end of each branch.

The flowers are single, with flat petals forming a circle of two inches in diameter. A plant forms a mound of brilliant color, about a foot high. The colors are remarkably clear, and while some plants are dark red, most of them are pink of varying tones, marked with white.

If the flowers are cut before they produce seed, the plants will bloom all summer, and often live over winter, or self-seed, so that they renew themselves. A strain which has been selected for fringed petals is called Gaiety. There is also a strain with rounded petals, but similar in coloring to Gaiety. The seeds germinate quickly, and the plants are as easy to grow as zini-nias and marigolds.

Chinese annual pinks have small flowers in clusters, but with the same bright colors. Carnations do not make as spectacular a show in the border, but they bear cut flowers of high quality. The strain known as Carnation Grenadin is a perennial and should be started now for flowers next year. The annual strains take 90 days to produce

GROWING VEGETABLES TO BURY

Lack of adequate storage space in cellar or basement leads many home gardeners to the unprofitable decision to "go slow" on the late vegetable growing program, particularly with such bulky crops as cabbage, beets, parsnips, carrots, turnips, and rutabagas. However, experience amply proves that the potential grower who has sufficient space for these crops may store them where he grows them — by simple, inexpensive burial.

Until building facilities permitted farmers of a century ago to erect large storage cellars, burial was the chief form of vegetable storage, both for marketing and home use. In fact, in early colonial years necessity compelled settlers to adopt outdoor burial of hardy food crops. The wisdom of this practice remains today wherever cellar space is insufficient to meet the family's overwinter requirements. It is warranted even by suburban residents who have opportunities to purchase certain hardy vegetables at prices low enough to justify the investment.

Which vegetables permit safe burial? When should final plantings be made to produce a late crop for burial? These questions take precedence over burial methods at this time of the year.

Cabbage for burial, as well as for making sauerkraut, require trans-planting within the next week to 10 days. Vigorous, well rooted plants must be used and these must be kept amply supplied with moisture and stimulated with one or more side dressings with nitrate of soda to hasten growth to normal maturity.

Beet seed should be planted before July 15 to permit the roots to reach full size for burial, although later planting is possible for immediate table use of tops and partly developed roots.

The same advice given for growing late beets to bury applies to carrots. Every gardener should stress a liberal late crop of carrots, not only because they store safely and easily by burial, but because they are among the most healthful vegetables for all-winter rounding out family diets with their tasty sources of needed vitamins and minerals.

Time to sow rutabaga seed for the late crop expired around the middle of June. But turnips may be seeded until the middle of July. Here is another vegetables that, like rutabagas and beets, keeps better by burial than by storing in basements and cellars.

The final date for sowing parsnip seed is July 1 for this latitude, with many experienced gardeners preferring June 15. Reason for this is found in the fact that parsnips require approximately 100 to 110 days from date of sowing to mature their roots. Therefore, gardeners may compute time from this date (the first week in July) and see that maturity would occur around or after the middle of October. Of course, if autumn is mild, the gamble is worthwhile. Parsnips may be left in the ground or a supply buried late for winter use.

Kohlrabi permits burial. Seed should be sown in rows this week.
Growers who have never tried this fine vegetable should test it on a small scale.

Of course, late potatoes must be included among crops to bury. The final planting date for this region is considered July 1 to 5.

Wrap all melons tightly in waxed paper or aluminum foil before putting them in the refrigerator so the flavor of the melon won't penetrate other foods.
